9th Tanks Cross Elbe

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, April 12 (AP)—American Ninth Army tanks crossed the Elbe river today and debouched onto the flat, unbroken plain leading 57 miles toward Berlin and 115 miles from Russian siege lines. A front dispatch said Lt. Gen. Simpson's men could reach the Brandenburg gate in Berlin by tomorrow night or Saturday, provided the Germans switched no tank forces from the east. One report, however, said the Germans indeed were shifting their battered Sixth Panzer Army from the Eastern Front.

The First Army approached Leipzig in Saxony over the old battlefields of Frederick the Great. One unconfirmed report placed American tanks near Halle, 15 miles from Leipzig. Planes destroyed or disabled 120 German tanks near Halle.

Cities fell like tenpins: Weimar, Heilbronn, Essen, Coburg, Nordhausen, Schweinfurt, Halberstadt, Emmen, Neustadt and—by German account—Bochum.

A special French communique announced the French First Army had captured Baden Baden and the Rhine crossing town of Rastatt in the Black forest southeast of Karlsruhe.

The Third Army captured Weimar and swarmed across the Saale river along a 30-mile stretch from a point south of Naumburg to south of the Napoleon battlefield of Jena. Naumburg is 128 miles from the Russian lines and 24 miles from Leipzig. Below Jena other forces of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton spurred to within 40 miles of the Czechoslovak frontier. Tanks of Lt. Gen. Hodges' First Army moved even closer to Leipzig, reaching a point only 23 miles from the site of Germany's famous fairs at 2 p. m., apparently bound for an entry into the city by tomorrow.

Patton's men were reported 32 miles or less from Bayreuth, in the German inner redoubt. The British thrust within less than 50 miles of Hamburg, Germany's greatest port and captured Celle, Nazi army gas-training center, and Rethen, crossing the Aller river. They were shelling Bremen, second German port.

All along the Western Front it was a hound and hare chase of disorganized and shattered German armies who had lost their last water barrier before Berlin. The Elbe.

Traps containing up to 100,000 Germans in the Ruhr and 200,000 in Holland were under vigorous assault. The last river before the German capital was forced by the Hell on Wheels (Second) Armored Division which blazed more than 50 miles to Magdeburg in a 12-hour dash yesterday. The precise site of the crossing was not announced. A bridgehead, however, was established at one undisclosed place, some 115 miles from Russian lines.

Infantry following the swift tanks of the Third Army beat to within 40 miles of Leipzig and 95 of Dresden. A junction with the Russians, severing Germany, may come between those two great Saxony cities within a week.

The phantom Sixth and Fourth Armored Divisions of the Third Army are stabbing deeper into what remains of the heart of Germany. AP Correspondent Thorburn Whant was allowed to report through the Third Army security blackout. "It can be said that the present armored stabs are much like those made by the Third Army in the past—sudden, swift and sensational."

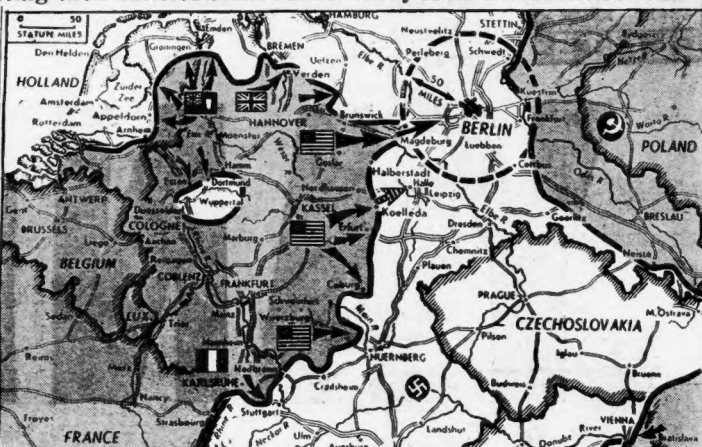

All the north German ports were menaced. The Canadians launched a drive into western Holland against thousands of trapped Germans. Ninth and First Army divisions whittled down the Ruhr pocket and its garrisons of up to 100,000 German troops.

The full extent of the Third Army drive was masked in a security blackout. The Sixth Armored Division whipped 46 miles across central Germany yesterday and the Fourth (Breakthrough) Armored Division gained 25.

Himmler, Gestapo chief, issued a decree saying that "no German city will be declared an open town." DNB announced in a Berlin broadcast.

"Every German town and every house must be defended," the SS leader declared.

"Every village, every town will be defended with all means. Every German man responsible for the defense of a place who

WESTERN FRONT—The Ninth Army's Hell-on-Wheels, Second Armored Division, is today over the Elbe river near Magdeburg, and now thundering down the last 57 miles to Berlin. To the south, Yank fliers report that Allied columns have been spotted near Halle, 15 miles northwest of Leipzig. In the drive to the Czechoslovak border the Sixth and Fourth Armored Divisions of the Third Army are running under a security blackout, but reports place them 43 miles from cutting the Reich in two.

Tokyo, Air Plants Hit

By MURLIN SPENCER

GUAM, April 12 (AP)—Tokyo and industrial Koriyama on Honshu island were plastered with bombs by American Superfortresses today, roaring out on a 3800-mile roundtrip mission from the Marianas. The Nakajima Musashino aircraft engine plant was a Tokyo target. Returning pilots who made the longest Central Pacific bombing mission to date, termed their attack "very successful." The B-29's were escorted by two Jma-based fighter planes.

Koriyama targets were not identified except as "industrial" in the city 110 miles north of Tokyo.

Part of the Superforts hit a second industrial target at Koriyama in the first raid on that city. Jap fighters were encountered, but B-29 crewmen said they were "on the timid side." There was no report of Superfort losses.

"The target was burning when we left," said Lt. Joseph Currier of Lincoln, Me. "There was one damned big fire there. We saw a few fighters but after a few bursts they were scared away."

Lt. Roy Collingwood said after his bombs were away he was unable to lock the bomb bay doors until concussion from bombs exploding 8000 feet below closed them for him.

Tokyo Radio said a fleet of "approximately 150" Superfortresses escorted by a "sizeable" force of fighter planes concentrated an attack on Tokyo's west section, while "some 50" B-29's bombed Fukushima prefecture north of the Jap capital.

Fifty B-29's reportedly struck the Tokyo area, and a similar number hit Koriyama, said the broadcast.

It was the eighth raid of the war and the third this month on the Musashino factory.

Twentieth Air Force headquarters in Washington termed the B-29 force "very large."

Renewed Allied carrier raids on Sumatra and Formosa were also reported today by Tokyo radio.

Jap soldiers added a new hazard to American conquest of Okinawa.

Reds Set Berlin Smash

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—The German commander on the Berlin front was reported by the German radio to have issued an order of the day to his troops warning that the zero hour for the push by Marshal Zhukov's First White Russian Army from its bases along the Oder could be expected at any time.

"In the Oder bend from north of Gueben (50 miles southeast of Berlin) as far as Kuestrin, enemy motorized and rail movements continue and indicate a growing Russian readiness for the offensive," the Berlin military spokesman said.

Mikhail Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army has punched a hole in German defenses west of Vienna, Moscow dispatches said today, and Berlin reported Soviet armor had reached a point between Kroms and Melk, 115 miles from Berchtesgaden.

Soviet troops virtually completed occupation of Vienna, and dispatches from the Russian capital said "Moscow's guns may salute" the freeing of the ancient Austrian capital tonight.

Northwest of Bratislava the Russians were fighting within sight of the Vienna-Bruenn highway, last escape route for the Germans.

The German communique said Gen. Lasch, commander at Koenigsberg, had been court-martialed for cowardice in surrendering the East Prussian capital and sentenced to death in absentia.

"Reprisals will be taken against his family," the official German war bulletin added.

Nazi Bike Courier Brings Surrender of Weimar

By EDWARD D. BALL

WEIMAR, Germany, April 12 (AP)—Weimar, birthplace of the German republic in 1919, surrendered to the U. S. Third Army's 80th Infantry Division without a shot today.

It was a bloodless conquest, negotiated by a German bicycle courier.

Elements of the 80th Division were gradually moving into near-Erfurt and its fall was expected before the day's end.

Negotiations for the surrender of Weimar began last night in the village of Troistedt, three miles south of the historic German city. The surrender ultimatum, which was to have expired at 8:30 a. m. today, was drawn up and handed to the mayor of Troistedt.

The gray-haired mayor pedaled a bicycle into Weimar, and delivered the surrender demand, which had been drawn by Lt. Col. Paul Bandy of Hillsboro, Tex.

Before 8 o'clock, the mayor was back—riding his bicycle again—and was followed 10 minutes later by the over-mayor of Weimar, who said his city was ready to surrender. The American troops then marched in.

The over-mayor, riding in a limousine, brought with him Dr. Erica Fischer, whose American mother lives in Germany, and Dr. Fischer's German husband. Both Frau Fischer and her husband are psychologists. Both speak flawless English.

The Fischers told 80th Division officers the German army had pulled out of Weimar yesterday and that the city was ready to surrender.

The over-mayor said simply: "We want to surrender."

The ultimatum read:

"The American Army once again is marching triumphantly forward. Your city is surrounded and untenable. Surrender and you will be treated according to the rules of the Geneva convention."

The mayor's limousine led the American column into the city.

Capt. Lawrence A. Degner of New York city, the division's military government officer, rode with the mayor.

Simultaneously with the occupation of Weimar the Americans overran the infamous Buchenwald prison camp in the woods three miles northwest of the city, where they found between 20,000 and 25,000 political prisoners.

The camp was said to have a capacity of 160,000. Divisional officers threw a guard about the prison camp and said the prisoners would be kept there until they were checked.

As infantrymen streamed into the city, Weimar's people lined the streets, some waving and cheering as if they were glad the war was over for them.

The American conquerors passed the destroyed home of Goethe and the home of Schiller, which was badly damaged but can be restored.

The home of Liszt, the composer, also was destroyed, as was the theater where the German republican constitution was signed in 1919.

Another bomb had destroyed a landmark familiar to American tourists, the church where Herder preached. Herder, a poet and minister, was a friend of Goethe.

Capt. William H. Chamberlain of San Francisco led the first doughboys into Weimar. The German police force, whose uniforms looked like those of the Wehrmacht, lined up in the streets and turned over their arms to the Americans.

Lake Sees Ruin Of Big Airfield

By AUSTEN LAKE

WITH FOURTH ARMORED SPEARHEAD, Central Germany — Beyond this town there's a captured Nazi airfield which, before being bomb-wrecked, would have rivalled New York's LaGuardia Airport. It would make Boston's projected air terminal look like a chicken ranch. At American wage and material costs, it had the original value of maybe a hundred million dollars, but it cost Hitler very little. He impressed slave labor and paid in printing press money.

Before our heavy bombers and artillery laid it in ruins, it had enormous buildings for plane assembly, maintenance, storage and troops barracks. Its hangars and runways occupied vast acreage. The entire depot spreads over a site as large as South Boston.

Now there is scarcely a whole fixture left, and though Hitler built it for permanency, with the finest examples of the bricklayer's and plumber's art, it is battered beyond reclamation.

We who have penetrated Central Germany have seen how paralyzing our bomber raids have been over the past two years. It is a saturation system of wreckage, without which our ground troops might still be fighting toe to toe against German morale, men and material.

Perhaps our aerial bombing did not win the war, but it certainly clipped many months and perhaps years from its life.

The airfield is smashed; nonetheless, a squadron of armored cavalry occupies the ruins, while putting on the last licks of spit-polish for the final assault on the hard German core of resistance.

This is not cavalry in the old meaning of horses. It is mechanized with light tanks, halftracks and motor transport which goes mooching miles ahead of our assault columns to feel out enemy strength—an unenviable job.

Bivouacked here in only a small element of a gigantic rolling circus, sprawled all around an area where men are busy with divers precombat tasks, they are in the midst of a nervous let-down from sudden inaction after weeks of headlong spoilage and slaughter.

Abrupt calm is like opium to the senses. Soldiers cannot realize what nervous tax and spendthrift pay-off of energies they have expended during the battle drive until they halt for a few days. Calm causes eardrums to ache.

Stokowski In Reno Visit to Gloria Vanderbilt

RENO, Nev., April 12 (AP)—

Leopold Stokowski, 58-year-old orchestra conductor, stopped off in Nevada today and was met by the divorce-seeking heiress, Gloria Vanderbilt De Cicco, 21, who last February inherited $4,345,000.

She met him in her automobile as his westbound train stopped at Truckee, and they drove to the country place recently prepared for her on the Nevada side of Lake Tahoe.

The heiress on April 20 will have completed six weeks' residence in Nevada, the period required for obtaining a divorce.

She is divorcing Pasquell (Pat) De Cicco, Hollywood actors' agent.

Acquaintances said she and her companion, Eleanor Marcus, a sister of Author William Saroyin, moved into the Lake Tahoe residence a day or so ago. Gloria has given up her hotel suite, moved all her jewelry out of the hotel vault, and has retained only a room.

MISS ALICE R. CAREY

Engagement to Mayor Kerrigan Announced

INP by Lester MacLellan

Boston Mayor To Take Bride

Mayor Kerrigan and his childhood sweetheart, Miss Alice Carey of Trimount pl., South Boston, are engaged, her mother, Mrs. Mary Carey, announced today.

By telephone today from New Orleans, where he has been resting after a tour of inspection of recreational facilities of several cities, Mayor Kerrigan told the Boston American reports that he was honeymooning were erroneous.

"I love Alice very dearly and I have loved her for a long time," the mayor declared. "I am going to marry her. I had hoped to keep my private life to myself but the unpleasant publicity arising from this tour I have been making makes this announcement necessary."

The couple, each 37, grew up together in South Boston and were classmates at South Boston High School, the mayor serving as their class treasurer.

"Johnny and I have been friends since childhood," she said today during an interview at the mayor's home. "We haven't set a date for our wedding yet. We had planned to marry just before he went into the Army, then we postponed it, and have gone along until now."

"He has been a member of St. Augustine's parish ever since I can remember. He's a fine man and a credit to the sisters and priests at St. Augustine. I'm very proud of him. I have watched his career and have been close to his political organization.

"He's shown himself to be a fine executive and is a credit to South Boston."

The mayor's mother, Mrs. Annie Kerrigan, said Miss Carey was a talented pianist.

"Often when Johnny has come home tired after a day's work," she said, "he has gone over to Alice's house and relaxed while she played the piano."

Miss Carey expressed surprise at the furore over the engagement.

"Why, only a month ago, Johnny invited me to attend the Firemen's Ball with him and nobody thought anything about it or had any comment to make about a romance."

During the recent St. Patrick's Day parade in South Boston, she was presented with a bouquet of roses by the Mayor as she stood on the line of march.

The mayor, who has been absent from the City Hall since March 22, is resting in New Orleans with his brother, James, after completing the survey of recreational programs and facilities he made in several cities. He is expected to return to Boston this week.

36 Lost on Blazing U. S. Tanker in Convoy Crash

Some victims were trapped in the burning ship. Others were lost when they jumped into the flaming sea.

Two are known to be dead and 34 listed as missing.

The War Shipping Administration, disclosing the accident today, said that both ships were able to return to New York.

The St. Mihiel, carrying 180,000 barrels of 80-octane gasoline, collided with the tanker Nashbulk in the dim twilight, WSA said.

All except one of the dead and missing were crew members of the St. Mihiel. Ten survivors, returned aboard the Nashbulk and have been hospitalized at the Marine Hospital, Staten Island.

The St. Mihiel burst into flames immediately and the blaze was not brought under control until abandon ship orders had been given. The skipper of the St. Mihiel presumably perished in the fire.

Names of the victims and survivors were not disclosed nor was the exact location of the accident.

The St. Mihiel was launched last March 7 at Chester, Pa., when the craft hit the water with such speed that it crossed the Delaware and went aground on Chester island.

The Nashbulk, a 11,516-ton vessel, also was a new ship, launched last Jan. 16 at Norfolk, Va.

Staten Island police reported that a Coast Guard cutter had recovered bodies of four missing crew members at Federal Anchorage 22, 40 miles off shore.

Keville Questioned On Hospital Delay

Adj. Gen. William J. Keville, chairman of the board of trustees of the Chelsea Soldiers' Home, admitted today that construction had not been started on a 200-bed addition, authorized a year ago by the Legislature but that most of the essential work on preparing plans had been completed.

Gen. Keville was the first witness called by an investigating committee, headed by Sen. Charles G. Miles of Brockton, which was created by the present session of the Legislature to determine the reason for delay.

"A year ago the Legislature in special session authorized this hospital addition and construction still has not started," Sen. Miles declared. "If every hospital for veterans is going to take as long to get started we will not have many of them."

Gen. Keville told him six months had been needed to prepare the plans and that question now has arisen whether the addition should be erected on the present site or on land owned by the city of Chelsea on adjacent Powder Horn hill.

He also explained that if the addition is constructed for the $750,000 authorized, it will mean lowering the grade and type of construction and was informed by Sen. William R. Conley, of Chelsea, that legislation now was pending for expenditure of an additional $500,000 if necessary.

Keville said everything had been done except sending out of the working plans for bids. He explained the board of trustees would act immediately on the bids, but that the contract award was done by the emergency public works commission.

"This committee wants something done about this hospital," Miles declared, "and there is going to be something done before we get through."

The committee then voted to invite members of the emergency public works commission, members of the board of trustees and the commandant of the Soldiers' Home to attend a further hearing next Tuesday.

CHICOPEE, April 12 (AP)—Formation of a branch of the Polish-American Congress, Inc., at a meeting which petitioned the United States Senate to disavow decisions made at the Yalta conference was announced by Paul P. Flak, a resolutions committee member, today.

Flak said more than a hundred delegates "representing more than 100,000 Polish-Americans in the central and western part of Massachusetts" participated in the organization meeting Sunday.

The meeting, he said, adopted a resolution setting forth the decisions concerning Poland reached at the Yalta conference of the heads of the British, Soviet and American governments were a "shocking violation of the principles of the Atlantic Charter and ideals for which our men in the armed forces are fighting."

Probers Told British Rules Cut U.S. Food

By FRANK B. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, April 12 (INS)—Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R.) of Nebraska today called for investigation of charges that British import restrictions have the effect of cutting down the American food supply.

The charge was made to the Senate "black market" committee today in a telegram from Alfred H. Benjamin, president of the Anglo-American Trading Co., who said he sought to import food from Portugal.

It was necessary, he said, to ship tinplate from the United States so that anchovies and tuna can be canned and brought to this country.

But, he said, the British refuse to grant Americans rights to ship tinplate to Portugal.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D.) of Montana said he would ask the committee to probe reports of an "overseas black market" into which American meat is leaking.

Meanwhile, Rep. Jenkins (R.) of Ohio, chairman of the GOP Congressional Food Study committee, demanded a "complete cleaning out" of the OPA's food division, charging that "punitive measures employed by the New Deal" have put out of business "many thousands of honest retail grocers and butchers."

Hub Coast Guard To Be Honored

The Coast Guard's shield of honor for proficiency in port security duties will be presented tonight to the U. S. Coast Guard Temporary Reserve Unit, Division 5A, of Boston, by R. Adm. Lyndon Spencer in ceremonies attended by 1500 officers and men at the Irvington st. armory.

R. Adm. Spencer, former Coast Guard staff officer in Boston and now assisting operations officer in Washington, arrived in Boston today. He recently was awarded the Legion of Merit for outstanding ability as commanding officer of a high-speed attack transport.

The shield will be accepted by three enlisted men of the reserve unit being honored.

The Boston unit is considered by Coast Guard officials to be one of the most efficient in the United States. During 1944 the unit served an approximate total of 1,500,000 hours of voluntary duty in protecting the Boston waterfront.

Lady Hartington To Return to U. S.

The 25-year-old Marchioness of Hartington, the former Kathleen Kennedy, will return to the United States this summer to visit her parents, former Ambassador to Great Britain Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy, it was learned today.

The Marchioness returned to England from Hyannisport last fall after her husband, Lord Hartington, was killed in action in France while serving with the Coldstream Guards as a captain.

She came to Cape Cod as soon as possible last summer after the news of the death of her brother, Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., in a Navy plane crash.

She is staying at present in Derbyshire, England, in the castle of her father-in-law, the Duke of Hartington.

The 190-pound former sailor, discharged Jan. 28, was stationed at Charleston and also in England.

Suspend Advice On Germany, Says First Lady

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today Americans should withhold judgment about what they want done with Germany until more information is available about conditions when fighting ends.

At her news conference, the First Lady expressed the opinion that only the State and War Departments have any real knowledge now of what may need to be done.

Asked when she thought the State Department should inform the public of German conditions after hostilities, Mrs. Roosevelt replied, "as soon as the State Department knows itself." She added that the people must accustom themselves to thinking of international problems in terms of joint decision and action by various United Nations.

"We must get over the habit of years when we moved alone," she said. "We must accustom ourselves to remembering that we are not the only ones to decide."

Mrs. Roosevelt said she felt that occupied countries should have the right to express their opinions also.

One reporter asked for comment on a recently published statement that "the honeymoon is over" between Mrs. Roosevelt and her strictly feminine press conference. The First Lady replied, but put her remarks off-the-record.

Patrolman Patrick Gilrain, arresting officer, told the court he visited Zden's home in Salem st. and found stockings, handbags, eyeglasses, flashlights and other articles, many still bearing price tags.

Zden, he said, claimed they were goods from a store he had operated 20 years ago.

Low 80's Break Hub Mark for This Date

Shattering the record for this date by a wide margin, the mercury climbed into the low 80's this afternoon and the weather bureau threw caution to the winds and forecast a continuance of the balmy weather for tonight and Friday.

"Any possibility of an east wind coming up soon is pretty remote right now," declared G. Harold Noyes, weather bureau meteorologist, in contrast to his earlier warning that the east wind might knock the warm spell "galley west."

Noyes said the comfortable west wind successfully shoved aside an attempt by sea breezes to edge inshore and "spoil everything."

The easterly wind reported earlier off Cape Ann was only about one mile an hour in contrast to the 10-mile west wind, he said.

Noyes said the mark of 69 set for this date in 1938 really was not much to beat. He rattled off a list of record readings for past Aprils which made 69 seem like just a warm winter day.

"We had 89 on April 28 in 1938 and again on April 20, four years ago," Noyes said. "It was 85 on April 10, 1922, and 84 on five different dates in past Aprils."

The two soldiers, now undergoing treatment at the Camp Edwards convalescent hospital after lengthy overseas service, were charged with robbing Anderson of $26, assault and battery and assault and battery with a dangerous weapon.

Judge Baker placed Thorne on probation for two years after Army authorities informed him the youth would face a court-martial.

Chaplin Again Testifies He's Not Baby's Dad

LOS ANGELES, April 12 (AP)—Charlie Chaplin from the witness stand today reiterated his denial that he is the father of Carol Ann Berry, 18-month-old daughter of Joan Berry, his former screen protegee.

The white-haired actor declared he refused Joan's demands for $150,000, although "I knew 95 per cent of the press was against me and had been ever since I dared to demand a second front on behalf of Russia. That was a mistake I made."

With gestures and intonation suggestive of his screen roles, Chaplin testified in the second trial of Joan's paternity suit against him that she had demanded $75,000 each for the baby and for her mother and nothing for herself.

"I told her I was not the father of the child," Chaplin continued. "I said, 'You know I have had nothing to do with you for over a year.' She told me then, 'all the papers are against you and will blast you out of the country.'"

Chaplin said the conversation, the last he had had with Joan, was in May, 1943.

She completed her testimony in the suit yesterday.

Husband Charges Oil Man Delivered Kisses With Fuel

LAWRENCE, April 12—Having a fuel oil man as you best friend has advantages, but it can break up your home, according to Richard W. McKee of Cottage st., Methuen, who today sought to divorce Margaret McKee of Main st., North Andover, and named the oil man as co-respondent.

McKee told Judge John J. Costello in Essex Probate Court that Percy J. Hogan of Andover was a "family friend" until Mrs. McKee took to spending time with him in the cellar when Hogan came to deliver oil.

"That went on for some time and didn't stop until I changed oil men," McKee testified.

McKee said he and Hogan had been friends for 14 years and worked together in a chain store before Hogan entered the oil business.

Mrs. Virginia H. Higgins of Andover testified that she went on parties with Mrs. McKee, Hogan and another man. She said they parked in a wooded lane in the wee hours after spending the evening at dine and dance places.

Mrs. Higgins said her escort fell asleep on each occasion and that Hogan and Mrs. McKee made love in the front seat "for more than an hour sometimes."

The case is continuing.

Holdup Suspect Tries Own Case

Owen Glynn, 26, of Bird st., Dorchester, acting as his own counsel in superior court today, accused two fellow defendants of being "well rehearsed by the police" when they implicated him in robbery and auto theft charges.

Glynn had pleaded not guilty. His accusation was flung at George N. Dern, 19, of Alpine st., Roxbury, a sailor wearing civilian clothes, and Charles H. Brownell, 18, of Catawba st., Roxbury. Dern had pleaded guilty to two robberies, two charges of carrying a dangerous weapon and two automobile counts, larceny and using a car without authority.

Brownell, who had admitted one robbery and an automobile larceny, asserted Glynn had worn a mask during a Back Bay garage holdup March 8 that netted only $5. The victim was Elmer Shaw, an employee, who said three men escaped after stealing a car in the garage.

The trial is continuing.

Leary. Deneault appeared in court heavily manacled as a precaution against repetition of his unsuccessful escape try March 26 when he eluded police taking him to East Cambridge jail. He was recaptured on Charles st., West End, 30 minutes later.

Master's Voice Fails to Save Dog

ATLANTA, April 12 (AP)—Jackie, the bull terrier whose last days were made happier by the sound of her master's voice on a phonograph record, died today.

The master, Richard H. Cundiff, 18-year old trainee at the U. S. Maritime Training Station at Brooklyn, made a record of his voice two weeks ago when he heard his pal for the past 12 years was incurably ill. The record was airtight to Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow with floral offerings expected. Burial will be in a pet cemetery. Mrs. W. G. Scott, young Cundiff's guardian, said she has received hundreds of telephone calls about Jackie.

She expressed a hope some Brooklyn service man's mother would kiss Richard for her to comfort him.

'Lady Robin Hood,' Whose Thefts Killed Boss, Jailed

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Fifth Avenue's "Lady Robin Hood," who pleaded guilty to stealing more than $26,000 from her boss so she could give raises to fellow workers and gifts to servicemen, was sentenced today to serve two to four years in prison.

She is Mrs. Madeline Dunnigan, 22, who admitted diverting money from the accounts of Oscar H. Gropper, owner of a Fifth Avenue luggage store where she was bookkeeper. She was arrested Dec. 7.

Gropper died Dec. 26 in a plunge from a ninth floor window, leaving a note in which he said the thefts had ruined him.

Mrs. Dunnigan's attorney told the court she had been under a strain because of her father's death and her mother's illness. He said she appropriated only $3000 of the money for herself.

Informed that Mrs. Dunnigan was pregnant, General Sessions Judge George L. Donnellan commented: "She didn't become pregnant until after her arrest. She thought she would have the sympathy of the court."

Mrs. Dunnigan, trembling and nervous, burst into tears.

Trolley Pilot Shifts Route To Help Sailor Catch Train

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP)—Leo Counley, a trolley pilot, took his street car off his scheduled route to take an unidentified sailor to the Union Station in time to catch a train.

Counley was heading for the loop from the northwest side when he noticed the sailor appeared ill. He inquired and the sailor said: "I'm sick and I have to catch a train at the Union Station at 9 p. m."

It was 8:10 p. m. and Counley knew he couldn't make the trip in time so he telephoned Supervisor John Schultz for suggestions. He told Counley to unload his passengers, put a "not in service" sign on the trolley and he would have an automobile meet the sailor on Canal st., a few blocks from the station.

But the promised automobile wasn't there and it was 8:47, so Counley headed south on to Clinton st., where the car ordinarily turns north.

It was 8:53 when he halted his car, stuck the control handle in his pocket, grabbed one of the sailor's suitcases and ran with him to the station. They got there at a minute before 9. The sailor, wearing four South Pacific campaign ribbons, told Counley he was going home to visit his mother for the first time in more than two years.

Counley was asked what was wrong with the sailor.

"He said he was car sick," the trolley pilot replied.

does not follow this order loses his honor and his life."

The Rainbow (42d) Division captured Schweinfurt, ball-bearing capital of the Reich, and moved to within 29 miles of the Nazi shrine city of Nuremberg.

Ninth Army infantrymen were mopping up the aircraft manufacturing center of Brunswick.

The 83rd Motorized Division raced 38 miles east of Goslar and captured Halberstadt and Wegeleben. The Fifth Armored Division, driving north from Brunswick, reached Gifhorn, 50 miles northwest of Magdeburg.

Lt. Gen. Simpson's tanks threatened Magdeburg, whose bombed-out industrial area includes the Gruson Werke armor plant, a subsidiary of Krupp.

Only a handful of Nazis were fighting in Brunswick. The capture of Halberstadt gave the Ninth Army an important junction of railroads just north of the Harz mountains.

The Germans said British Second Army troops had opened an all-out attack on Bremen.

Canadians mopping up northern Holland advanced 22 miles and started assaulting the Dutch traps in which up to 200,000 Germans are caged. The First and Ninth Armies sent several divisions to hammer down the Ruhr pocket, where up to 100,000 Nazis remain.

The Sixth Armored Division captured two high ranking German officers, one of whom said: "I had no idea the Third Army was here." The division captured a concentration camp at Eltersburg, northwest of Erfurt, and liberated 21,000 political prisoners who had only a day's supply of food. A prison camp containing some American captives also was taken, but it cannot be identified at this time.

Erfurt itself was encircled and the Blue Ridge (80th) Division fought in its streets after a three-hour artillery bombardment. The Onaway (76th) Division reached a point 10 miles north of Weimar and 47 miles southwest of Leipzig.

The 11th Armored (Thunderbolt) Division captured Neustadt and reached a point 33 miles northwest of the Wagner festival town of Bayreuth in the redoubt. The 59th Infantry advanced seven miles eastward and deployed along the Ilm river from 6 to 13 miles southwest of Weimar. The 97th (Golden Acorn) Division reached the Ilm in the area from 12 to 18 miles south of Erfurt.

It was the 80th (Blue Ridge) Division which reached Weimar. The 90th reached point 22 miles south of Erfurt and the 26th moved to the area 12 miles north of Coburg. The 71st Division was seven miles north of Coburg.

146,742 British Bomb Casualties

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Britain has suffered 146,742 civilian casualties—60,583 killed and 86,159 injured—from enemy air action since the beginning of the war, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

The figures included 792 killed and 1426 badly injured during March. Since that time no enemy explosives have landed in England.

U. S. Casualties Now 899,390

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—American combat casualties since Pearl Harbor have now reached 899,390.

Secretary Stimson today reported Army casualties of 802,685 and the Navy set its losses at 96,705.

The increase over last week's figure, 6481, was one of the smallest weekly rises in months.

A breakdown on casualties and similar figures for the preceding week are:

ARMY—Killed, 142,267 and 156,471; wounded, 489,256 and 486,929; missing, 86,648 and 88,755; prisoners, 67,514 and 66,228. Of the wounded, 250,192 have returned to duty.

NAVY—Killed, 37,402 and 36,549; wounded, 44,444 and 42,988; missing, 10,645 and 10,623; prisoners, 4254 and 4266.

nawa, 325 miles south of Japan, by releasing thousands of lepers and insane.

U. S. 24th Army Corps units beat back four well-organized Jap counterattacks on southern Okinawa yesterday but were held to a virtual standstill for the seventh day.

American casualties in the first nine days of the Okinawa campaign were announced as 2695, 432 dead, 2103 wounded, 160 missing.

American gains in the Philippines ranged up to 21 miles on Luzon and 30 on Negros island.

British armor swept east and south from Thazi in central Burma to trap fleeing Japs.

Aging Premier Adm. Baron Kantaro Suzuki increased the warlike appearance of his cabinet by adding the sixth military man, Lt. Gen. Fukuharu Yasui, as minister without portfolio to act as liaison officer between the government and the army.

Jap broadcasts said the French battleship Richelieu and a British battleship of the Queen Elizabeth type were expected to be in the British task force which yesterday raided Sumatra.

U. S. Will Punish Cruelty to PW's

WASHINGTON, April 12 (INS)—The United States government today pledged that a just punishment will be meted out to perpetrators of atrocities against American prisoners of war in Germany.

The pledge was made jointly by Sec. Stimson and Sec. Stettinius and was issued at Stimson's news conference.

The announcement said there are actually 70,000 American prisoners inside the battlefronts of the Reich.

Berlin 'Cornered'

PARIS, April 12 (AP)—Supreme headquarters changed its huge wall battle map today in an effort to keep pace with its fast armies.

The huge one to 100,000 scale German map was shifted over and bent around the corner of the briefing room.

The new strip showed Berlin and Leipzig.

Reds Declare Allies Too Easy on Nazis

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 12 (AP)—An article in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said today that Allied "benevolence" toward the Germans was growing and that it formed an integral part of Nazi plans to go underground in preparation for another war.

The Izvestia writer cited a statement from abroad that "an appreciable part of the German people are friendly toward the invading army." He commented: "This 'benevolence' undoubtedly forms the basis of Adolf Hitler's plans."

He added the impression was gained, "as may be seen from the history of the Reichsbank's gold reserves," that the Germans were trying to use the Allied occupational zone for saving foreign exchange values and army cadres.

The commentator said the Nazis were "sending emissaries in all directions."

Cartel movements by German industrialists and patent agreements have been put into motion," the article said. "On the other hand, a provocative project has been advanced, not without the co-operation of the Vatican, concerning the formation of a strong military government in Germany," headed by Dr. Heinrich Brüning, exiled chief of the dissolved German Catholic Center party who has come under periodic fire from the Moscow press.

989 Nazi Planes Lost in 6 Days

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—German plane losses in the last six days mounted to 989 today when 11 American Thunderbolt pilots strafe two airfields near Leipzig where 350 gas-less aircraft were parked.

The Thunderbolt pilots attacked until their ammunition was exhausted and at the end counted 74 planes destroyed and 18 others damaged.

Allied planes raked Berlin with bombs again during the night.

Powers in Fight On Tobin Tax Boost

Asserting temporary taxes in the past 25 years in Massachusetts had developed the habit of becoming permanent, Leland Powers of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, strenuously opposed Gov. Tobin's proposal for a temporary increase in the corporation tax for veteran benefits.

Powers declared the Governor's original proposal was for a one-year increase of 2½ per cent on corporation income with an outright $25,000 exemption. Tax Commr. Henry F. Long said administrative problems made it necessary to impose the tax for two years and exempt corporations with net income of less than $25,000 from its provisions.

Vainly Gave Life For Iwo Flag Hero

Sgt. Henry O. Hansen, 25, the Somerville marine who took part in the famous flag raising on Iwo Jima's Mt. Suribachi, was killed by enemy fire after a fellow Marine deliberately had sacrificed his own life in a vain attempt to save him, it was revealed today.

A delayed International News Service dispatch from Iwo Jima today disclosed the PFC Donald J. Ruhl, 21, of Joliet, Mont., had flung himself on a Jap grenade to save Hansen and other Marines from the explosion.

U. S. Ship Blast Kills Hundreds

ROME, April 12 (AP)—Hundreds of Italian civilians and a number of American and British servicemen were killed in Bari harbor Monday by the explosion of an American Liberty ship loaded with munitions, an Italian government spokesman announced today. More than 1000 other persons were injured.

The cause of the explosion, one of the major disasters of the war in the Mediterranean theater, was not yet known, the spokesman said. The number of military personnel casualties also was not known.

Authorities did not disclose the identity of the ship.

Earlier the government spokesman had placed the toll of Italian dead at 267 and the injured at about 1600.

CHUNGKING, April 12 (AP)—The Chinese high command announced tonight that Japanese troops had captured Laohokow, former advanced U. S. 14th Air Force base, 200 miles from Hankow and 350 from Chungking.

The city, which the Americans had abandoned as a base some time ago, fell Wednesday morning after bitter street fighting.

Gardeners Are Warned To Beware of Freeze

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Daily Record-American Sunday Advertiser demonstration garden on Boston Common.

Although the gardening this season is about two weeks ahead of last year, gardeners must bear in mind that there is still a chance for us to get some cool weather and possibly a freeze. Do not plant any of the warm weather crops such as beans, squash and cucumbers, as these need warm soil and will rot if planted too early.

Onions are hardy and the sets can be planted now. Do not cover the sets too deep. All that is needed is for the bulb to be covered and set in place. The onion bulb forms above the ground and does not shape up well if set too deep.

This year because of the warm weather I have noticed some gardeners who are growing plants in frames are not covering the glass at night. Unless some covering is put on there is a big loss of heat. Commercial growers use straw or burlap mats. For home use an old blanket will serve the purpose.

Again the question has come up as to what crops will grow in the shade. It is safe to say that without exception all vegetable crops prefer full sunlight for maximum growth.

Now a few radishes for an early crop. Short rows, 10-12 feet at a time will give you a good supply of radishes for home use. Some growers sow a few seeds in with carrots and other root crops. Use the quick maturing varieties for this purpose.

"The Reich rushed war machinery from Berlin and Dresden to Weimar as late as six months ago. Great stores of food and liquor are on hand.

Another salt mine prison was found in the village of Springen, where 89 British prisoners from Dunkirk were liberated.

Allied Terms Unchanged

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—

Prime Minister Churchill said today the Allied policy of unconditional surrender for Germany still stood, even though Gen. Eisenhower has asserted the war in Europe may not end with a clean-cut surrender of all German forces.

"The policy of unconditional surrender does not exclude unconditional surrender piecemeal and is not necessarily applied only to wholesale surrender," Churchill explained.

Laborite Rhys Davies raised the question in Commons by saying Eisenhower's declaration meant in effect the "policy of unconditional surrender was completely unworkable."

He referred to the Boer war in South Africa, where he contended that after the proclamation to end hostilities was made "the war actually began in earnest and lasted for two years afterwards."

Churchill replied that he believed Davies was "not very accurate in his history."

KEEP PACIFIC ISLANDS

WHEN THE United States Marines planted the American flag on Iwo Jima, and an alert photographer made a picture of the event that is already as well known and will probably be as long remembered as the famous Minute Man of Concord, they thought they were putting it there to STAY.

All of the American people, in fact, have been taking it for granted that ALL of the Pacific Islands were taking away from the Japanese are automatically and indisputably becoming AMERICAN islands.

The only possible exceptions which the American people might be in a mood to consider would be those Pacific islands over which Allied nations had sovereignty before the war and lost to the Japanese in the early part of the war—such as Tarawa, which was recovered from the Japanese by the American Marines, but over which the British flag was subsequently restored.

BUT IN THE CASE OF PACIFIC ISLANDS OF JAPANESE OWNERSHIP OR MANDATE—THE MARSHALLS, THE CAROLINES, THE MARIANAS, THE VOLCANO GROUP, THE RYUKU CHAIN, ETC.—THERE SHOULD SURELY BE NO MORE QUESTION ABOUT PERMANENT AMERICAN OCCUPANCY THAN THERE WILL BE ABOUT TOTAL AMERICAN CONQUEST.

THIS IS NOT because the United States aspires to territorial aggrandizement from the Pacific war.

The United States would not be greatly enriched by possession of any of these islands.

Economically, most of them will be liabilities.

It is for our permanent SECURITY that permanent American possession of them is desirable.

These islands were the air and naval bases from which Japan launched its attack upon the United States.

They were armed and fortified by the Japanese.

They made POSSIBLE the Japanese war against us.

They were responsible for our loss of the Philippines and of Guam and Wake.

They were the springboard for the assault on Pearl Harbor.

They supplied and supported the Japanese conquest of the entire Southwest Pacific, up to the very shores of Australia.

The only way we can ever REMOVE this menace is to POSSESS the islands which have constituted so grave a danger to us.

We should make them AMERICAN naval and air bases, for the permanent PROTECTION of America.

OF COURSE we are not going to allow them to revert to Japanese ownership. But that is not the only danger they pose.

While official quarters in Washington are strangely and ominously silent about the future control of these Pacific islands, other quarters are neither silent nor inactive.

The INTERNATIONALISTS in Washington are already talking about "international trusteeships" for them, and are openly suggesting that the forthcoming United Nations Conference in San Francisco should set up the structure for their control.

If ever there was warrant for unilateral action, the United States has such warrant in the Pacific islands.

THIS IS NOT THE BUSINESS OF ANY OTHER NATION.

IT IS NO PART OF THE BUSINESS OF THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE.

The United States should raise the AMERICAN flag over all the former Japanese islands in the Pacific, as the Marines did at Iwo Jima, and KEEP it over them.

ON FEB. 25, 1945, Gen. Eisenhower said: "I am convinced there is only one way to defeat Germany, and that will be when the Allied armies meet the Russian armies in the center of Germany." ... Who is the oldest active bus driver in the United States? How about 75-year-old Mike Mahoney, who drives a bus on the busy 23rd st. cross-town route in New York city? Mike started as a street car skipper in Gen. Eisenhower 1899. At that time he drove a horse-drawn car. After that, he handled a cable car. Then a trolley. Now he drives a bus. It is a "one-man" bus at that. So he has to be both motorman and conductor.

PLEASE NOTE: A Detroit mother says her son was seriously injured in the Normandy invasion and spent 4½ months in the hospital. Upon his release he was returned to duty at the front. He still has a paralyzed right arm and right hand. Three of his fingers have been amputated. "And to think," the mother adds, "that there are young men in this country who have been excused from fighting because they have flat feet or punctured ear drums!"

SNOING: A feminine subscriber recently suggested the way to cure a husband of snoring was for the wife to take her thumb and forefinger and gently close her sleeping husband's mouth. This she said, would make him breathe through his nose. A young matron of California now writes: "I do not think that thumb and forefinger method of curing snoring is practical. When I tried it on my sleeping husband he snapped his teeth together, nearly biting my finger off."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Was there ever a fighter named Brooklyn Tommy Murphy? A—Yes, sir, at the time there were two well-known fighters named Tommy Murphy. So to distinguish them one was called Brooklyn Tommy Murphy and the other Harlem Tommy Murphy ... Q—What things can you name that have not increased in price in 40 years? A—Off hand all I can think of is the 5-cent fare on the New York city subways and the penny postal card ... Q—Outside of women in the forces what girls look most attractive in their uniforms? A—An easy question. The answer is the trained nurses.

BRIEFLY: Roddy's on Fillmore st., San Francisco, claims to have the longest bar in the world. However, no measurements are furnished to back the claim. I'll have to take a tape measure and go to Roddy's next time I am in San Francisco ... A Navy wife refers to her husband's letters as "sugar reports." This young woman seems to have a Grade A husband. Says when he is at home that after dinner he always kisses her before leaving the table and tells her what a wonderful meal she prepared.

NO SMOKING: The cigaret shortage doesn't worry the residents of Saudi Arabia. It is against the law to smoke or drink in that country. The king, Ibn Saud, doesn't drink or smoke and he won't allow his subjects to do so. However, it is legal to have four wives in Saudi Arabia. So maybe it is for the best that smoking is not allowed. Think of a man having to get cigarets for four wives. I was King Ibn Saud who recently said to reporters: "Three things I have loved—perfume, women and prayer." Shortly after that Prime Minister Churchill sent the king a lot of perfume.

PASSING BY: Johnny Gee, Major league pitcher. Being 6 feet 9 inches in height, he is probably the tallest major league twirler of all time. Now, who do you say is the shortest? How about Jack Warhop.

Bing Crosby: Sympathetic chanteur and horse breeder. I am still willing to wager that within the next six years a Crosby-owned or bred horse will win the Santa Anita Handicap or the Kentucky Derby ... Sgt. Bill Westland, of the U. S. Army. A Brooklyn boy. Has been on 66 missions in Europe and 31 in the Pacific. Says Bill: "The Pacific area is a much tougher place to fight in than Europe."

A Brave New World On Phony Money?

This is the fifth and final of a series of articles by Samuel Crowther, noted author and economist, on the United Nations Security Conference, scheduled to open at San Francisco April 25.

By SAMUEL CROWTHER

Written Expressly for Hearst Newspapers
WE ARE in danger of losing the peace. This is not the same thing as saying that the San Francisco meeting may sink into a sordid squabble.

The break-up of that meeting and the scrapping of the whole portfolio of proposed agreements might be the first step toward a real peace.

Because nothing has been thought through and because there has been so much double-talk and propaganda pressure, the situation may already have become so involved that the best course is to wipe the slate clean and start all over again with a clear, simple objective.

WE SHALL LOSE THE PEACE, IF FOR FACE-SAVING PURPOSES WE SO COMPROMISE PRINCIPLES THAT THERE WILL EMERGE FROM SAN FRANCISCO A DOCUMENT FOUNDED ON CHEAP EXPEDIENTS AND NOT ON TRUTH, HONOR AND JUSTICE. THAT, AND NOT A BREAK-UP, IS THE DANGER.

The question is not what Russia wants, or what Britain wants, or what this or that country wants. THE GREAT QUESTION IS WHAT THE UNITED STATES WANTS!

We have certain principles founded on our own conception of liberty. Our liberty was a thing created by ourselves. Everywhere else in the world liberty is taken as a privilege granted and it does not extend beyond the grant.

We cannot ask any other nation to adopt our concept of liberty, but likewise we cannot permit the merging of our concept with other concepts by any form of agreement.

We can compromise on details, BUT WE CANNOT COMPROMISE ON PRINCIPLES, and there is no reason why we should compromise on principles.

WHEN THE DAY of victory comes, it will be an American victory. That is not mere boasting but a plain statement of fact.

Our men and armor, both on the battle and the home fronts, kept Germany and Japan from overrunning the earth.

As a warrior nation, we are superior, both absolutely and comparatively, to any nation that ever existed.

The military situation is now such that we can finish the job entirely alone. Indeed, we might be stronger, and certainly we should have fewer cares, if we cut off Lend-Lease.

THEREFORE, ALTHOUGH A BREAK WITH ANY OF OUR ALLIES WOULD BE EXTREMELY UNFORTUNATE, IT WOULD NOT BE SO UNFORTUNATE AS ALLOWING THEM TO FORCE ON US THE KIND OF PEACE ORGANIZATION THAT VIOLATES THE AMERICAN CONCEPT OF TRUTH, HONOR AND JUSTICE. WE MUST NOT BE BULLIED INTO LOSING WHAT WE HAVE FOUGHT FOR.

The present design seems to comprehend rushing through the agreements at San Francisco in much the same way that legislation was rushed through Congress in the early days of the New Deal.

As Dumbarton Oaks now stands, it is not primarily a proposal for peace. It is primarily a charter for some kind of new world and we need to know a great deal more than we now know about the economic and social sections it proposes to set up.

If Bretton Woods be taken in connection with Dumbarton Oaks, the proposal is to set up a brave new world on phony money. That would not be an organization for peace.

The whole San Francisco scheme may be so pretentious as to be impossible to execute.

We shall need to examine what is in the bottles and compare the contents with the labels.

WE SHALL NEED TO KNOW WHAT IS MEANT BY THE "UNITED NATIONS," BY "PEACE-LOVING," BY "COLLECTIVE," BY "CO-OPERATION," AND SO ON THROUGH THE WHOLE NEW GLOSSARY OF WORDS. And we shall need to know what happened at Tehran, at Yalta and elsewhere.

The plans at San Francisco are the work of men. They are not tablets of stone brought down from the mountain to guide us forever.

It is our duty as citizens to read and ponder them, to argue for such changes as we desire and finally to ask the Congress to bring their judgment to them.

We cannot remain true to our principles if, in a blind intolerance, we approach with closed minds.

HOLLYWOOD, April 12—If Joan Fontaine isn't on suspension today, she will be before the day is over. She is refusing to accept "Young Widows," the very same movie Ida Lupino was to have made for Hunt Stromberg.

"It's not for me," Joan said, "and I don't believe anybody can accuse me of being temperamental when I refuse to make a picture I've turned down."

Joan's contract with David Selznick has until June to run, and she is not remaining with the Selznick company. What her plans are, she doesn't know, because she cannot sign any contracts, according to the Hays office code, until the end of her current Selznick deal.

Teresa Wright

THE FIRST business date Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger, representatives of Arthur Rank, have in Hollywood is with Sam Goldwyn. They will ask Sam to lend them Teresa Wright for "A Matter of Life and Death," which starts in London in June.

Of course, the British producers did not make this long trek just to borrow one player. They bring with them a proposed plan for interchange of talent as soon as the European war is over.

TIS SAID Jack Warner offered Ann Sheridan in exchange for Bob Hope. Now here's what's so funny about this deal. Warners and Ann, and Bob and Paramount aren't on speaking terms at the moment. Could be a solution for both problems. Jack, I hear through the old grapevine route, wants to get Bob for "Chicken Every Sunday" and is prepared to offer whatever is necessary to get him.

SYMPATHY goes to the Russell Wades in the loss of their little seven-year-old daughter, Joanie. The little girl was playing around a swimming pool with a little girl friend of hers. Something was floating on the pool and Joan reached to grab it. The little girl friend, instead of screaming for help, got on her bicycle to get her mother and, in the meantime, the drowning child was beyond all help.

I SAW a contract agreed up on before my very eyes the other evening. Otto Preminger and Bruce Cabot were both there with John Perona, and Otto then and there arranged with Bruce to play one of the male leads in "Fallen Angel."

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Ray Milland leaves today for New York. But he isn't marrying Baranova because she is already married. Besides, Ray is still in love with his wife, Mel Milland, and is trying to get her to reconcile. Up to now he has been able to persuade her not to get a divorce. He does two broadcasts in New York—and he is hoping when he comes back they will "kiss and make up." Their friends hope so, too.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Martha O'Driscoll, back from 11 weeks overseas, is trying again to get her husband, Lt. Com. Adams, to agree to the divorce she filed; Angua Enters' contract Friday night at the Philharmonic is bringing out many film people. Wynn Rocamora is giving her a party at his home after the concert; Mary Pickford celebrated her birthday at the John Perona party at Romanoff's. It was really a very nice affair, put on with combined Perona-Romanoff style. Joan Fontaine, as gay as a bird, came with Harry Crocker, Dorothy Lamour, who has lost 15 pounds, and now has a figure to dream about, wore a gorgeous blue gown. She and Maj. Bill Howard are still at the hand-holding stage. Spina Henie, Pat Smart, Sir Charles and Lady Mendi, Errol Flynn (alone), Bruce Cabot (ditto), the Reginald Gardiners, Wynn Rocamora and some 15 others, drank a toast to Mary's birthday and one to the host; Audrey Westphal, young starlet, and Lt. David Friendkin, have been secretly wed since March 31; Steve Crane, Lana Turner's ex, who has been very sick with virus pneumonia, was reported better today.

DO YOU HAVE difficulty getting seats for "legitimate" shows? . . . That member of the Massachusetts General Court who said it was impossible to keep tickets out of the hands of "sidewalk scalpers" should NOT be delegated to clean up the situation . . . Whom do the boys in the Senate who listen to the lobbies think they are kidding?

NONETHELESS AND notwithstanding, if you had difficulty in obtaining tickets for "Carousel" at the Colonial, do not assume that you were in a minority . . . This department worked 24 hours to buy four seats for a prominent Boston professional man who seldom asks help from any newspaper source because he fears it might compromise his position as the relative of one of America's most prominent men . . . We couldn't buy them . . . Manager Saul Kaplan, or Treasurer Bill Landgrain, Hugo Lundgren or Company Manager Potter (for the Theater Guild) simply could not find the desired tickets.

AT 8:15 LAST NIGHT, in front of the Colonial Theater, in the presence of five witnesses, this corner bought eight seats for the performance of "Carousel" at a premium per ticket (and a rather large tip for the "steerer" who found the "scalper" who found he could find someone who could find a person with that many tickets on his person) . . . The "connection"—the man who actually possessed the pasteboards and a presumed agent of a ticket agency—was puffing a Corona-Corona in the doorway of an office building within 20 paces of the Colonial Theater . . . WASHINGTON, April 12—Along about this time 84 years ago—April 12, 1861, to be exact—certain parties fired upon Ft. Sumter, thereby starting the Civil War. I forget which parties did the shooting and I am certainly not going to refresh my recollection, because I have valued customers below the Dixie Line as well as above. Anyway, I am not trying to start a controversy; just trying to be educational.

Today the Civil War seems to belong to the musty pages of history. Most of us are inclined to think about it the way we do the Revolution, the Napoleonic Wars, the Wars of the Roses, and maybe even the War of Jenkins' Ear.

Nevertheless—we still have three Civil War babies in Congress!

SEN. CARTER GLASS of Virginia was born Jan. 4, 1858, which made him 3 years old when the war started. He is pretty feeble now. He hasn't appeared in the Senate for more than two years; in fact, he did not even appear to be sworn in for the 79th Congress. By special dispensation, the ceremonies were conducted in his home at Lynchburg, Va.

Rep. Joseph Jefferson Mansfield of Texas probably could not qualify as an eyewitness to the firing on Sumter, although he was in the land of the living at that time. But he was only 2 months old, having been born Feb. 9, 1861.

Mr. Mansfield was born in Virginia but his birthplace is not in Virginia any more. It is now Wayne, Va. His father, Joseph Jefferson Mansfield, was a colonel in the Civil War and was slain near Coal River, July 22, 1861.

Mr. Mansfield is still hale and hearty. He is spending the Congressional recess at his home in Columbus, Tex.

THE REMAINING Civil War baby is the most active of the three. He is Rep. Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee. He was born Nov. 7, 1863—in the third year of the conflict.

Despite his 81 years, he is no dead to trifle with. He is known far and wide as "Muley," although he does not encourage the moniker.

He can move with great speed and precision. Several years ago, while making a campaign speech, he leaped from the platform and belted the daylight out of a heckler.

Muley's big hobby is walking. He walks all over Washington. The taxi companies would starve if they had to depend on him.

He takes his job with deadly seriousness. He is at his desk every morning at 7:30, although the House does not open sessions until noon. He works until 6 or 7 every night.

SEN. ARTHUR CAPPER of Kansas just missed being a war baby. He arrived on the scene July 14, 1865, just three months after Lee's surrender.

(HISTORICAL NOTE: Lee was the general-whose side didn't win.)

Senator Capper is exceptionally vigorous, too. He gets around to more social functions than any other older. Hostesses are forever commenting on how much snap he has to him; and how you can always rely on him in a pinch.

He is intensely democratic. He always speaks to all pretty women he meets, whether he knows them or not!

By George Dixon

of Illinois, dean of the House, was nearly a year late. He was born in Czechoslovakia on April 4, 1866. Although he came to this country in 1881 he still speaks with a heavy accent.

Sen. Hiram Johnson of California did not arrive until five months after Sabath, being born Sept. 2, 1866. His health has not been good lately.

MR. COLE E. MORGAN, who kindly assisted me with all this historical research, appended this comment:

"You will note that there's not a dandyman baby left in Congress—the three Civil War babies remaining all being Southern rebels! The Yankees all put off their arrival on earth until after the shooting was over."

I wish Mr. Morgan would not write stuff like that. He is liable to get me into an argument!

"He said there's no point in sending me a German flag. All of them look just like our bed sheets here at home!"

Milk Ideal Extender

By MARTHA LEE

MILK, WHICH IS OUR MOST NEARLY PERFECT FOOD, is an ideal extender for small quantities of meat and fish. A smooth, creamy white sauce, made with milk, is an excellent foundation for many tasty escalloped or creamed dishes. And for variation, cheese may be added to the sauce.

Cubes, or ground leftover meat, or ready-to-eat meat, combined with vegetables and a medium white sauce make the perfect topping for a meat and vegetable shortcake. Make the biscuits into individual portions or one large shortcake and serve with another vegetable, a crisp salad and dessert and you have a nourishing and satisfying meal.

The recipe for ham shortcake may be varied to use the meat which is on hand and once served will be a favorite with the family.

HAM SHORTCAKE

1-3 lb. ground or cubed ham (2-3 cup)

3 tbsp. butter, margarine or drippings; 1/2 cup flour

2 1/2 cups milk

1 1/2 cups cooked peas

1/4 tsp. prepared mustard

1/2 tsp. salt; 1/4 tsp. celery salt

Brown ham slightly in melted fat. Stir in flour, add milk, and cook over direct heat, stirring constantly, until sauce boils and thickens. Add peas, mustard, salt and celery salt. Bake your favorite baking powder biscuits either in one large biscuit or several small ones. Serve hot sauce between and on top of split hot biscuits. Makes 6 servings.

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS

2 c. sifted flour

3 tsp. baking powder

1/2 tsp. salt

1/4 tsp. shortening

1/2 cup milk (about)

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or with two knives until the consistency of coarse cornmeal. Stir in milk to make a smooth dough. Turn out on slightly floured board, knead 1/2 minute, and roll lightly to thickness of 1/2 inch. Cut in 2-inch rounds with floured cutter. Bake on ungreased sheet in a hot oven (450 deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 14 to 16 biscuits.

CREAMED SHRIMP AND MUSHROOMS

1/2 cup butter or margarine

1 cup (1/2 lb.) sliced mushrooms

1 tsp. chopped green pepper

1/2 tsp. flour; 1/2 tsp. salt

1/2 tsp. celery salt; 1/2 tsp. pepper

2 1/2 cups milk

1 lb. (12 cups) cooked or canned shrimp

1 tsp. chopped parsley

1 tsp. chopped pimiento

1 egg yolk, well beaten

1 tsp. lemon juice

Melt butter, add mushrooms and green pepper, and saute 5 minutes. Stir in flour, salt, celery salt and pepper. When well blended, add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Add cleaned shrimp, parsley, and pimiento. Stir a little of the sauce into the well-beaten egg yolk. Stir egg mixture into remaining sauce and mix well. Add lemon juice. Makes 6 generous servings.

CREAMED SALT CODFISH

1 lb. (8 cups) salt codfish

2 cups cream sauce

1 hard-cooked egg, chopped

Soak codfish in cold water 30 minutes or soak twice and drain. Cut in small pieces with scissors. Combine fish with cream sauce in which salt has been omitted. Reheat and serve on mound of mashed potatoes. Add sprig of parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Deep, vibrant and exciting . . . is more than a color . . . it is like the bubbling vintage for which it is named. It spells joy and gay romance for any woman who wears it . . . for no man can resist the rosy, warm appeal of lips, cheeks and fingertips touched by its thrilling newness.

Its creator . . . a woman who for years has been keenly aware of a color-conscious world . . . has captured the magic of pink champagne in five color-related make-up aids . . . in a lipstick of smooth, lasting perfection . . . in rouge, cream or compact form . . . in a cream tint foundation that is more than a cake, more than a cream, but combines the happy elements of both . . . in face powder of clinging, petal-like texture in two specialized types . . . one for oily skin, another for dry skin . . . and in nail-groom, a smooth, long lasting quick-drying make-up for fingertips.

Because pink champagne is such a fashion-right color . . . fabric houses and designers have adopted it as a leading fashion color for spring and summer. An original new print has been designed by Ocondaga to go with this new make-up. This really constitutes a "first" even in fashion news . . . since . . . to our knowledge . . . it is the first time a print has ever been especially made to interpret a make-up color.

IN DRESSES, BLOUSES, PAJAMAS

It is therefore a striking tribute to the extraordinary genius of its creator . . . that the textile and fashion world thus acknowledge her unerring skill in selecting the shade that at once becomes a leader in popularity for the season. Designers Sontheim, Barrack and Gainer are using this luscious new pink champagne print in dresses, blouses and lounging pajamas.

Coro has designed and dyed jewelry in this color and is also launching a stunning double string of pearls as a dog collar in this smart and lovely shade. Even the hat creators are using the color in adorable toppers . . . and coat and suit designers have made up models in its heavenly shade. Thus a perfect, well-developed co-ordination of cosmetics and fashions can and should exist. Hats With Pretty Colors

By BETTINA BEDWELL

IF YOU HAVEN'T done so, you owe yourself the pleasure of wearing a really pretty hat this spring. No hats are more in the styles than those that are pretty as a flower garden, which they often imitate.

But there are other kinds of hats around, part of the styles, which take a lot of wearing. Hats with those super-structure crowns and narrow, hard brims are an example. You may wear one if it looks good on you, but you also ought to have a soft, utterly feminine, pretty color hat, too. Just this once, if you never did before. And another vital thing is to see that it looks good from the sides and back as well as from the front. These spring hats are big enough so they can look right from all angles. Don't go on wearing the hat that is just a sort of carbuncle over your forehead, with nothing at all left for the sides and back.

Beauty

RKO Star Nancy Kelly looks as thrilling facially . . . as pink champagne.

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

KEENE, N. H., Wednesday—At the Fortnightly Club, which I attended last Monday for the first time in 10 years, the discussion was "How Can We Improve Race Relations?" I could do no better than try to repeat the sermon I had heard from Gen. Romulo, but I was far less effective, I know. I hope the General will speak throughout this country many times before the nations meet in San Francisco.

AFTER A QUIET DINNER we took the night train for Brattleboro, Vt. I looked out of the train window yesterday morning expecting to find a winter landscape. Instead, forsythia and daffodils were blooming and it was almost as spring-like as in Hyde Park. We got out in time to have breakfast with John Talbot and Rev. William Lewis, who came to meet us.

By 11 we were in Chester, Vt., where I was to speak at the high school. The graduating class, having earned and collected the money for a trip to New York City or Washington, had given this up and decided instead to do something useful with the money which would carry out the motto of the class—"To work towards a just and durable peace."

They made me an honorary member of the class, presented me with the check and left it to me to suggest what they should do. At the luncheon following the ceremony, they voted to accept my suggestion that they buy war bonds and, when the war is over, use the money to give some boy or girl a scholarship for study either here or abroad which would increase the understanding between nations.

I HAD A CHANCE to talk to all of the young people at luncheon, which curiously enough was an exact duplicate of our inauguration luncheon at the White House, except for the fact that we had not had ice cream. I signed their programs and gave each of them a rose from a large bouquet which had been given me.

Driving from Chester to Keene was a very lovely trip.

Smart Set Keep Opera Tradition

By BETTY ALDEN

THOUGH THE AGE of elegance, when a diamond tiara flashed on practically every feminine head at the opera, has temporarily gone the way of other pre-war customs,

there are still a few fashionable socialites doing their bit to keep alive the old tradition of glamor and brilliance that was part and parcel of every opera audience.

Mrs. Henry Endicott, one of Boston society's well known patronesses of art and music, attended the Metropolitan's performance of "Parsifal" wearing a filmy black lace gown set off by a sparkling diamond necklace, matching pendant earrings and a luxurious mink jacket. Miss Mary Curtis, well known costume designer, was glamorously dressed in cinnamon brown bouffant taffeta to accent her beautiful auburn hair. Her accessories were a sable stole and long white kid gloves.

Mrs. E. Clarence Hovey came in from Milton with her daughter, Mrs. John S. Howe, both in modish black formal. Mrs. John Gannett, sharing a box with her father, H. Wendell Endicott, president of the Boston Opera Association, strolled into the champagne bar between the acts, in a striking black taffeta with low square bodice edged with shocking pink grosgrain to match the horizontal bands around the full skirt.

A halo hat of coral feathers added a festive touch to Mrs. K. Schuyler Choute's black street length formal. She was with her mother, Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, whose lavish diamond sunburst brooch sparkled against a simple black dinner gown. Mrs. Sumner Fugere, Mrs. Gelston King, Mrs. Marshall Eaton, Mrs. Roger Converse and Mrs. Sheldon Wardwell, in a lush wood violet dress with floor length panels of apple green, were others in the enthusiastic audience.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Glimpesd having a gay springtime lunch together in Harvard sq.—Mrs. Philip Cate, Jr., with Shirley Waterman, Kay and Frances Sawtell and Harriet Brooks, each on lunch hour from her respective war job. Shopping and lunching in town past deb Darby Almy was very chic in a black, tailored suit with blue blouse to accent her taffy-colored hair. Mrs. Frederick Worthen was on a shopping jaunt with daughter Joan and Becky Farnsworth. Glimpsed Mrs. Richard Shaw apartment hunting at the Beaconfield after having sold her house in Brookline. Mrs. David O. Wicks, (Betty Leonard) out walking, with her two cute youngsters, was pretty and modish in bright red tweeds.

MRS. A. KINGSLY PORTER is opening Elmwood, her historic home in Cambridge, tomorrow afternoon for a tea and reception in honor of Bidu Sayno, famous Brazilian singer who is starring in "Pelleas et Melisande" at the Opera House tonight. Admission to the tea will be by purchase of a war bond or stamps. Mrs. Oakes I. Ames and Mrs. Fairfield Raymond are assisting, together with Mrs. Edward Ballantine, Mrs. Richard Hobart, Mrs. Calvin Magruder, Mrs. Edwin R. Sparrow, Mrs. Robert T. P. Storey, Mrs. Soma Weiss and Mrs. Frank Worman.

'Mr. Emmanuel,' Majestic Hit, Is Top British Film

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

Until very recently, films made in England were pretty sure to be, from an American moviegoer's point of view, either unusually good or very dull, with the dull ones in the majority. The Britons have learned much lately, however; "Mr. Emmanuel," now playing at the Majestic, is a case in point.

This picture, released by United Artists, combines the better features of English films... among which are integrity and depth... with a definite technological improvement which shows Hollywood's influence.

Felix Aylmer, famous English actor, gives a brilliant performance in the title role of this quietly told, yet heart-breaking story. He portrays a gentle old man, a London Jew, whose life has been devoted to friendship and charity, and who in his last years learns what horror means. Certainly we have had many, perhaps too many, pictures telling of the brutalities of the Nazi scourge. This one, however, does it better than most, for it brings home the plight of a people infected with spiritual rabies, as well as the agonies of their victims.

It has suspense, drama and warm humanity. It has a glamorous leading lady named Greta Gynt, whose figure and costumes are up to Hollywood's standard and who is an excellent actress in the bargain. It has a boy whose name is Peter Mullins, who will go far, and a fine supporting cast, in which Walter Rilla and Ursula Jeans stand out particularly.

The story is that of an old man who just can't believe that a British citizen whose mission is one of charity, could come to any harm in Germany in 1938, merely because of his religion. It should be seen by all.

"MEMPHIS BOUND" COMING
"Memphis Bound," John Wildberg's new musical production starring Bill Robinson and Avon Long, will open a 10-day engagement at the Colonial Theater Thursday evening, May 3. Vinton Freedley is supervising the production, which is being staged by Robert Ross with the assistance of Eva Jessye.

East Side Kids' New Film Better

A shade above the mill-run of East Side Kids' releases, Monogram's "Docks of New York," now showing on Trans-Lux screen, introduces some unexpected touches.

It has, believe it or sue me, a certain amount of suspense, a spot of comedy and photography that is an improvement over previous cinematic chapters in this series.

Leo Gorcey, carrying a little more poundage, and Huntz Hall, are the tough, rather amusing Muggs and his dopey stooge, Glimpy, who find a diamond necklace, are juggled for larceny. Convincing the authorities of their innocence, they are released and emerge as heroes when they catch the real criminals.

Besides the East Siders and the jewel thieves, the plot spawns some foreign agents, a murder, a Balkan princess and her aunt regally played by Betty Elyse. "Docks of New York" mind you, is no great shakes, but it is an improvement on the carbon-copy East Side Kids' formula.

Baseball to Have Big Season; Racing Ready

By JACK CONWAY

THE 4237 PAID admissions at Braves Field as Al Javery pitched the Braves to a 3-to-1 victory over the Red Sox with Rex Cecil doing the flinging were convincing proof that baseball will have a good season even though most of its stars are in service . . . Perfect weather conditions were an added attraction which caused many of the fans to watch the game from locations where Old Sol could shine on them.

From Al Javery's showing against the Sox I would say that his arm is in good condition again . . . Al was troubled with a lame arm while at the training camp, but he did not display any indications of difficulty with his delivery as he set the Sox down.

Al Javery

Tommy Holmes, who is playing left field for the Braves this season, had a big day at the bat and in the field . . . Holmes' home run and double were punch wallops for the Tribe . . . Bob Coleman feels that Holmes will do much better in left field than when he was in center . . . Tommy never liked playing center field and he was unable to do himself justice . . . Ramsey, who plays center field against the Sox, looked good . . . He goes back for a ball well, and this is one thing a center fielder at Braves Field, with its vast distances, must be able to do.

Cecil made the mistake of pitching to Masi with men on third and second, and the Braves catcher knocked in two runs with a screaming single to center . . . Perhaps it would have been better judgment for Cecil to have passed Masi, filling the bases . . . There is one school of baseball thought which always believes in filling the bases, even when there is a weak hitter up, under the circumstances.

Metkovich at first base and at the bat looked impressive for the Sox . . . He took the honors as far as the men of Cronin were concerned . . . Cronin intends to start the season at third base . . . For a player like Cronin who has slowed down it is easier to play third base than cover any other infield position . . . Slow rollers will cause Joe much more trouble than hard hit balls . . . At the bat Cronin should continue to star . . . A great batter like Cronin can hit when he is unable to run to first base.

THE Sox outfield is intact with Fox in right field, Culberson in center and Johnson in left field . . . Christopher is also ready to play center field . . . I think this outfield combination is a shade better than the Braves' outfield, Ramsey in center, Holmes in left and Nieman in right field.

The fans at the Sox-Braves opener were enthusiastic . . . There was no desire on the part of the public to be critical . . . Everyone realizes that baseball is faced by many problems this year and that the club owners and managers are doing their best to overcome them.

With the lid still on racing, baseball will do better in the early part of the season than it would if he had to compete with the turf sports . . . Racing will not get going until Germany has been defeated . . . I have been informed that racing will get a green light as soon as Gen. Eisenhower proclaims that Germany has been defeated . . . Gen. Eisenhower does not expect a formal German surrender . . . It is likely that racing will get a green light inside of two months . . . Meanwhile, as Dave Wilson points out, there are ample horses at Narragansett Park to stage a race meeting . . . The Rhode Island track will be able to get going as soon as the ban is lifted on racing.

General Eisenhower's announcement that Germany has been beaten may be made shortly after the American, British, Canadian and French armies join with the Russians.

Says Louis Is Best

DAN PARKER, New York sports editor, says that in his opinion Joe Louis will beat Billy Conn when they clash in a return bout . . . Parker does not see a heavyweight in sight who would have a chance to win from the "Brown Bomber" . . . Dan expects a big boom in boxing in the postwar period.

Jim Tobin Joins B's; Barrett Due

By BILL GRIMES

Braves' hopes soared today when Jim Tobin, veteran right-handed pitcher, at long last arrived from the Coast at Braves Field, donned a uniform, and showed in batting practice that he is fit and ready for the National League race.

With Tobin in camp and colorful and capable Charles "Red" Barrett due at any moment, Tribal pitching strength reached a point which indicates that the Coleman have a chance to become a sound first division outfit.

Barrett, one of the "Boys from Syracuse" was expected to report to Mgr. Bob Coleman today, before the second game of the city series, but he may have decided to break the long train ride from Hollywood by dropping off at Cincinnati and Syracuse to visit with friends.

This is the second year that Barrett has sidestepped spring training. Two years ago, when he was brought up for what he should have known was his final shot at bigtime baseball, Mr. Barrett was Johnny-On-The-Spot at Choate School.

Never having been guilty of underestimating himself, "Red" figured that he made the club that year by turning in 12 wins against 16 defeats. So, he remained on the Coast, while the rest of the squad, with the exception of Ira Hutchinson, labored for "no" at Choate. Well, Red, did not do as well for himself or the Braves last year as he did in 1943—nine victories and 16 setbacks. However, he again chose to spot the rest of the National League pitchers a three-week training season and come in cold

In many respects, "Red" Barrett is different from the average pitcher. In the first place, he isn't enthusiastic about training. But don't get me wrong. Barrett doesn't drink or smoke. But, he can "jake" it with the best "erh lia zue" (Chinese for loafer). It requires two coaches to get him to chase fungoes and when the squad runs around the field before or after practice, he cuts all corners.

Despite his shortcomings in training, Barrett is always ready and willing to pitch at the shortest notice during the regular season. True, he hasn't been too successful as a relief pitcher, but, still, he has shown spirit.

Probably, Barrett has been working out on the coast. But, if he hasn't, he'll be, what he terms in shape, a day or so after he reports. He's funny that way.

ANOTHER BO BO NEWSOM

One of these days, possibly this afternoon, "Red" will pop up at Braves Field. While talking everyone's ear off in the club house, he'll climb into his uniform and strut out on the field.

In the event the meets up with any of the new owners, Barrett will comment about the improvements in the park and without batting an eye ask how much they cost. Then, he will look over the fair sex in the grand stand. He plays no favorites, blondes, brunettes or red heads, from 16 to 60, all interest him. Then, he'll call the scribes' attention to the misinformation they handed the public during the off season. He reads all sport pages from top to bottom and woe be unto the writer who pulls a "bone." He'll be right on his back.

Barrett is a terrific "ribber" but unlike most of that ilk, he can take a "rib." So, in the final analysis, "Red" is a likeable chap who provided one does not get too much of him at one sitting.

Yes, air, the appearance of Charles "Red" Barrett will add more color to the Braves. After all that's what brings out the cash customers.

Schultz Shipped To Get Degree

BROOKLYN, April 12 (AP)—Howie Schultz, towering Brooklyn first baseman, and shortstop Tom Brown were sent to St. Paul of the American Association today on 24-hour recall.

Schultz, a regular with the Dodgers for the past season and a half, now is completing his studies at Hamline University in St. Paul and will play with the Saints whenever possible. His draft board has given him a deferment until he receives his diploma, probably in June.

Until midwinter Schultz was classified 4-F because of his 6-foot-7-inch stature.

Brown, a 17-year-old candidate for the shortstop job, played 50 games for the Dodgers last season and was billed as regular in that berth at the start of spring training this year.

Cather, '14 Tribe Player, Dies at 55

CHARLESTOWN, Md., April 12 (AP)—Funeral services were held today at Aiken, Md., for Theodore P. (Ped) Cather, 55, former major league baseball player, who died Monday.

Cather, an outfielder, was one of George Stallings' "Miracle Men" of the 1914 Braves team which won the National League pennant and defeated the Athletics in four games of the World Series.

He operated a general store here and was a member of the town commission.

Lytell vs. Ryan in Callahan Feature

By BILL SMITH

For the second consecutive week, middleweights will feature the Callahan A. C. show at Mechanics Building tonight when Bert Lytell, Fresno, Cal., meets Irish Johnny Ryan, Detroit, in the 10-round main bout.

Last Thursday night, Henry Chemel and Reedy Evans engaged in a slam-bang battle that had the fans out of their chairs until a badly cut eye inflicted on Chemel caused the referee to halt the contest.

The sharp punching Lytell, a southpaw who punches equally well with both hands, will have to be at peak form to turn back Irish Johnny Ryan.

It will be youth and power against experience and stamina
when Cpl. Ed Wagner, Fort Devens, face Earl Lowman in a special six-rounder that has the fans in a quandary.

The 21-year-old giant, 6-feet, 7-inches, and some 265 pounds, has yet to be fully tested.

Johnny Moran, Roxbury, won in clean cut fashion when he knocked out Bobby Samuels in the opening round, a week ago,
meets another hard hitter in Bally Carubia, Astoria, Long Island, who also stopped his opponent on the same card, Al Michael of Lisbon, Me., in three rounds.

Lepp Webster, Fort Devens, a decision winner over Henry Kid Robinson has no soft touch in Joe Blackwood, Paterson, New Jersey. Blackwood gave Al Finnazzo a one sided pasting in a recent start.

26—Boston American, April 12

War Hero Joins B. C. Backfield

One of the most promising backfield candidates who has made an appearance at Boston College's spring football practice is a 24-year-old veteran of the Solomon campaign.

He is Steve Helstowski, a powerfully built six-footer who tips
the scales at 200 pounds. A native of Pittsfield, Mass., he was an outstanding member of the Pittsfield High School eleven of 1936, '37 and '38.

One month after Pearl Harbor was attacked he entered the Marine Corps. By August of the same year he was a member of the first assault wave that stormed
the shores of Guadalcanal, the first powerful American counter-action directed against the Japanese. For four months he remained on the island and was involved in most of the bitter battles that were fought before Guadalcanal was secured. After he was removed from the Solomon
he was hospitalized as a result of an attack of malaria.

He was awarded the Presidential Citation and wears two stars on his South Pacific Campaign Ribbon.

With "Tot" Owens, hero of last fall's B. C. Holy Cross quarterbacking, two more veterans may round out a powerful backfield combination. Silvio Conte, also from Pittsfield, may hold down one-half back slot while Greg Arsini from Medford, may alternate with Helstowski for the other halfback position and fullback. Before entering the Army, Orsini played one year of football at N. Y. U. He is a powerfully built 210-pounder and stands 6-1.
Moody Sarno is looking for great things from these three veterans by the time next fall rolls around.

The entry list for the big

Marathon run to be held over the

Wellesley Nine Gets Opening 1945 Test

By MIKE ELLOOLY

Early opening games in the schoolboy baseball schedule have their good points and their bad points. Take, for example, the situation at Wellesley High School where Coach Harold Goodenough sent his team into its first contest of the campaign today against Lexington.

Coach Goodenough has plenty of reason to rejoice that his boys are off to this annual preliminary contest but then, on the other hand, he hasn't had time to round his pitching staff into top-notch condition.

Wellesley's mentor is happy about this tilt, and the two quick ones to follow next week, because they will give outfielders Spiff Kerrivan, the hockey standout, and Dick Stanwood, one final taste of interscholastic competition. For after these three games, both will be moving into the armed forces as members of the U. S. Navy. Both were regular gardeners on the club last spring.

Coach Goodenough, however, expects to have one of the best balanced pitching staffs in the schoolboy ranks. He has three top-notchers who'll be dividing up the Lexington assignment equally until they've had more time to plot their wings over the nine-inning route. Bob Frazer, veteran southpaw, will start; go three innings before giving way to sophomore John Sanford to be followed by Joe Gould.

Frazer, a shutout artist last year, looms as the ace of the staff
but he'll have to keep on his toes to stay ahead of Coach Good-enough's twin right-handers.
Frazer whipped Lexington, 1-0,
last season.

Wellesley's catching assignment hasn't been settled as yet. Sophomores Fred Rice and Lennie Carsini have been battling it out and one will probably move into the outfield with the departure of Kerrivan and Stanwood. Carsini, a 190-pound slugger, has too much belting power in his bat to sit on the bench.

The infield will have veterans Jim Decker at short; Joe Foote at first and Leland Pearl at third.
Joe Nicole has taken over second base. Another experienced player, Tony Pini, will complete the outfield for this opener but there may still be wholesale shifts in the lineup when those two outfielders trade their baseball uniforms for the Navy's blues and whites.

Of the 25 candidates still on the Wellesley squad, 19 are either sophomores or juniors. . . Coach Goodenough, before practice ever started, lost Joe Rooney, Tom Kelley, Gallerani and Roberts to the armed forces. . . this quartet might have taken over starting positions. . . the Wellesley team will probably face the slants of Capt. Don McLean, veteran Lexington twirler. . . Irving Sherwood is handling the Minute Men again.

Belmont High School's baseball team will miss its regular third baseman, Chet Harrington, now in the U. S. Coast Guard. . . Harrington, wing on the hockey team, and center Jack Kelley, are together at the Manhattan station.
Coach John Pacino is finding

D-pound John Garvey a capable replacing replacement for Frank Jakes, regular for two years, at Cobbett High. . . Garvey will be handling the pitching of Ed
"Lucky" Dobbins, being touted as the season's top twirler in the pool ranks. . . and, although a junior, the Chicago Cubs are hot on his trail.

The second annual Catholic High school invitation track meet will be held at St. John's in Danvers Saturday, May 26. . . fifteen events will probably be toeing the line. . . events will again include 100-yard dash, 220-yard run, 440-yard run, one mile run, high jump, broad jump, shot put and discus.

ZANELLI BOUT OFF

NEW JUNK, April 12 (AP) —
The 10-round welterweight bout between Jackie Wilson of Cleveland and Ralph Zaneli of Providence, scheduled for Cleveland
Tuesday, has been called off.

Bartolo Ready For Mell Battle

All doubts that the Sal Bartolo and Gus Mell fight scheduled for tomorrow night at the Boston Garden might have been postponed because of an injury received by Bartolo in training were dispelled when Sal was given a physical o. k. by a New York doctor.

Installed a 10-6 underdog because of his inexperience, Mell will be shooting the works against the N. B. A. featherweight champion. The fighters must weigh in at 133 pounds, a poundage that is favorable to both Mell and Bartolo.

An eight-round semi-final will pair Walter "Popeye" Woods,
New York, and J. C. Wilkins, New Jersey. In a six, Sammy Garcia,
Quincy, tangles with the Blond Tiger, Lowell. They met before with Garcia getting the decision in a very close fight. Bernie Mc-Nally, heavyweight from Cambridge, meets Buck Holton,
Worcester; and Fred Sammon,
New York, goes against Kenny James, New Haven, also sixrounders.

Gansett Holds NE Date Reins

By DAVE WILSON

Self-styled insiders on Washington at fairs insist that the exact date for the resumption of horseracing will be May 2. . . The boys, as a matter of fact, are willing to wager to the effect that they know what they are doing, not just spreading idle rumors.

Judge James E. Dooley and his associates of the Narragansett Racing Ass'n seem to hold the
the whip hand in the forthcoming squabble over racing dates which seems to be brewing. . . The judge insists that Narragansett has always opened the New England racing season, and it will continue to do so.

Dooley already has more than 500 horses quartered at his track, and they are being augmented
daily by arrivals from winter tracks and other racing points. . .
The Gansett racing strip also has been readied for a quick opening.

According to latest reports,
there are only a hundred-odd horses quartered at Suffolk Downs

. . . Rockingham Park has not yet opened its stabling area to horsemen. . . Both Suffolk Downs and Rockingham Park must have sufficient horses on their grounds before they can afford to enter into a date squabble with Narragansett Park.

One of the most important groups figured in the prospective sale of Suffolk Downs turned thumbs down on the proposition after they had succeeded raising the necessary money because they deem the political situation undesirable. . . To all probability whatever racing is conducted at the East Boston track will be under the direction of the respective owners.

Probably the largest of all New England-owned stables is that owned by Weston W. Adams. . .
The Florida division of the stable
is now quartered at the Downs, and it will be increased any day
now by other Adams' thoroughbreds which wintered in Kentucky
. . . In all, the Adams racers will number more than 30 head.

Sam Gartfield's first-class stable, numbering 18 head, unloaded yesterday at Narragansett Park. . .
A small division of Irving Gushen's racers accompanied the Gartfield racers from Hialeah Park.

Wings Revise Team's Lineup

TORONTO, April 12 (AP)—Having lost the first two games to their Toronto rivals, the Detroit Red Wings' hockey sextet will take the ice tonight with a revised lineup in quest of the famed Stanley Cup.

Scoreless in the series to date, the Red Wings will throw a combination of Eddie Bruneteau, Joe Carveth and Clark Liscombe at the Leafs.

The line will alternate with one centered by Murray Armstrong, with Mus Bruneteau and Syd Howe on the wings. Howe, who played center all season, missed the first series game due to injuries. Ted Lindsay, Jud McAtee and Steve Wochy make up the third line.

Toronto, holding a 4-0 point lead in the eight-point series, is favored to win again here tonight following the two triumphs on Detroit ice. Officials expect a packed house, declaring "50,000 tickets could have been sold if we had the space."

Jack Tobin Proves Topflight Fielder

By BILL GRIMES

There'll be many poorer played and less interesting games at Braves Field and Fenway Park this season than yesterday's intra-city opener, which the Coleman took 3 to 1.

Al Javery and Rex Cecil turned in midseason pitching performances; there were five extra base hits and some snappy fielding.

Tommy Holmes topped the sluggers with a home run and a line two-bagger to right center, George Metkovich combed one to the far corner down by the Braves' bull pen for three bases and Eddie Joost crashed one against the left field barrier.

Jack Tobin, younger brother of Braves' pitcher, Jim, figured in two fast double-plays. He was the pivot man on the first and showed that he knows his way around when he sidestepped Tom Nelson's attempt to take him out of the play. In the next inning, Tobin snuffed out another Braves' threat, when he started a twin killing.

The new public address system, which is the best money can buy, made a most favorable impression with the 5000 fans. And, the same is true of the numerous improvements Braves Field has undergone since last season.

Carden Gillenwater, who came to the Braves via Brooklyn, is out of action with a sore hand and a bad leg. He expects, however, to get into the lineup before the end of this series.

Little Frankie Kelly, who was the mascot for the visiting clubs at Fenway Park last year, has been promoted. He will mascot for the Red Sox. And, speaking of Red Sox mascots, Freddie Stack, who broke into the game as a bat boy, must have been very busy making arrangements for his coming marriage. He wasn't at the game. Freddie is on a 45-day furlough, after serving with the 58th Fighter Squadron of the 33d Fighter Group, in Africa, Sicily, Italy, India, China and Burma.

One of the earliest arrivals at Braves Field was Curt Fullerton, who had more to do with putting East Boston on the map, than even Fred "Snappy" O'Brien, the for-

Frequent urination, passing urine with burning and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

We've Got A Million Of 'Em

There's standing room only for these thousands of Nazi soldiers herded into an enclosure near Heidelberg, Germany, after capture by the triumphant and swift-moving U. S. Seventh Army. With German captives pouring to the rear at a rate of thousands daily, there just doesn't seem to be any place to put them.
